

Kerala Assembly Elections 2026: From rallies to reels: high-stakes digital face-off for polls

Podcasts seem to be the most sought out tool for campaigning this time. From bigwigs like Pinarayi Vijayan to V.D. Satheesan, many candidates have given podcast interviews ahead of the polls, most of which have earned lakhs of views

Updated – April 07, 2026 01:32 pm IST – Thiruvananthapuram

AKHILA AJAYAN

A vendor arranging T-shirts and dhotis carrying political party symbols for sale at a textile shop in Thiruvananthapuram. File | Photo Credit: Nirmal Harindran

With a few days left for the Kerala Assembly polls, the digital space has turned into a warzone with social media handles of major fronts posting a whirlwind of content.

The usage of concept videos has seen an increase. Concept videos are content-driven visual presentations, usually in Instagram, Facebook, and YouTube, that aim at seeding and feeding a particular theme or core idea to a target audience. “Concept videos have been used in previous elections as well, especially after the digital boom in the post-pandemic period. It is cost-effective and can reach more people,” says Joseph Christy Francis, a public relations (PR) consultant.

In Case You Missed It

Deepika Padukone breaks silence on 'Dhurandhar 2', replies to trolls

BJP, the known unknown in Kerala 2026

Kerala deploys AI surveillance for polls; real-time alerts track...

Kerala Assembly Elections 2026: Voters, candidates, and key facts at a...

Kerala Assembly Elections 2026: Facebook campaign causes...

Kerala Assembly polls 2026: Over 26 lakh voters to decide electoral...

Kerala Assembly elections: Shashi Tharoor says high voter turnout...

Kerala Assembly polls 2026: Special polling team moves to...